

Chemo Chairs

Supporting comfort, care and the dedicated team at Taupō Hospital

The Taupō Hospital & Health Society furnished the chemotherapy room with comfortable chairs to support the nursing team and help patients feel more at ease during treatment.

For patients receiving chemotherapy, treatment can involve long periods of sitting. Comfortable, fit-for-purpose chairs help create a calmer and more welcoming environment while also making it easier for nurses to provide safe, attentive care.

“The new chairs provide practical support for our nursing team and greater comfort for patients during what can be a physically and emotionally demanding time.”

Comfort and practical support

The multi-adjustable recliner chairs provide nursing staff with better access while helping ensure patient safety and comfort throughout treatment.

This contribution reflects the Society's commitment to practical improvements that make a meaningful difference within Taupō Hospital.

Through practical contributions such as the chemotherapy infusion chairs, the Society continues to work alongside Taupō Hospital to support better experiences for patients, whānau and staff.
